FOREWORD

Each year at Lesley we add to our golden chain of memories many links of sincere friendships, unforgettable experiences, and invaluable knowledge.

Though we can never relive these days in reality, we can enjoy the fond recollections.

Turn the leaves of this Lesleyan slowly.
Add to each picture and to each sentence your own personal associations of cherished memories of days gone by.

Editor-in-chief
HOW THE ELF CAME TO LESLEY

Looking back into previous issues of the Lesleyan, the yearbook staff discovered a picture of this strange looking little man. Curious, as Seniors will be, we investigated the matter further. We questioned President White, Dean Thuber, and "George" and finally were directed to Mrs. Wolfard, founder of our college.

"This was her reply:

"In the Black Forest in Germany the dwarfs were to the people much as the fairies are in Ireland. They were thought to live in the cold places and to come out to play tricks, to do good deeds and to punish bad deeds.

"The Wood carvers and Hand Craft workers made many figures of these "little men" always with a spade, shovel, or a lantern in their hands as our little man had.

"I brought him to the School many years ago. He stood on the step near the well fountain keeping watch on the girls. At celebrations, at Christmas, a tiny lighted candle in the lantern gave a flickering light.

"One day in a burst of enthusiasm he was knocked down the stairs and broken to bits, and so the girls lost their mascot.

"Edith J. Wolfard"

On discovery of the meaning of the strange little man, we agreed that he was much too important to be forgotten. The yearbook staff enlisted his aid in recalling the highlights of the Seniors four years at Lesley. Although we have not seen him on campus for years, he has been watching over us from his home way down in the wishing well.

"As in old fairy tales, with the breaking of the magic spell, so the curiosity of the Seniors has freed the little elf from the seclusion of the well. Let it not surprise you should he suddenly appear in your classrooms, at your proms, or even sitting on the edge of the well!"

THIS BOOK WE DEDICATE

To Elizabeth N. Berglund ............ and Charles L. Atkins

"The kindly word that falls today may bear its fruit tomorrow."

"The great use of life is to spend it for something which outlasts it."
LESLEY has been fortunate, indeed, in enlisting the services of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Berglund as a member of the faculty. Joining fresh perspective with charming wit and wisdom, Mrs. Berglund has given much to the students both in classroom knowledge and in friendly associations. Thus it is, that we affectionately dedicate this volume of the Lesleyan.

Upper: Her poise is admired by all those who know her.
Lower: Mrs. Berglund devotes much of her time and affection to her daughter Betty.

THE educational experience at Lesley consists not only of the academic side, but also of friendly associations with members of the faculty. Outstanding, beyond all praise, among these is Dr. Charles L. Atkins, a part of Lesley for six years. Mentor, counselor, and most important, friend to all students. Dr. Atkins has become a living symbol of all that is fine at Lesley. In a sense of deepest admiration we also dedicate this Lesleyan to him.

Upper: His friendly little chats are cherished by us all.
Lower: Much of Dr. Atkins' time is spent in the First Congregational Church of Boxford, where he is pastor.

"The shortest way to do many things is to do

In the fall of 1948, the green leaves were beginning to fall, and into my college fell a very green group of girls, commonly known as freshmen.

They never realized I was sitting on the piano, watching them being ushered into the Opening Convocation by their big sisters.

I must admit they looked very pathetic as they hobble around the campus with one flat and one high-heeled shoe, ballons attached to their hair, and bored down with shopping bags filled with cigarettes, chewing gum, and candy for the seniors. This ordeal was climaxed by a performance which did not meet with full senior approval and consequently they were ordered to wear their beannies.
They finally organized under the friendly guidance of Dr. Mackaye and elected officers: President, Eileen DeCoster; Vice-President, Brenda Cooly, Secretary, Judith Sandborn, Treasurer, Jane Brady; S.G.A., Representative, Dorcas Reeves.

The first large event of the year was the Prom night at the Hotel Somerset. It was held in the Hotel Somerset and I marveled at what a good looking group of future teachers I had to mold. Of course if my presence there had been known I would have been the best of the ball.

Second semester my girls pulled through with flying colors under the leadership of Brenda Cooky, acting president. During this time they came up with a midnight show of shoes, despite Eileen’s leaving. Barbara’s pillows falling, Pat’s pants unstitching, and Lita accidentally throwing a bouquet at the Dean.

The final scene of the year was their “Blossom Time” prom held at the Copley Plaza, where I watched them from my porch on the drum.

In their sophomore year, Lesley undertook two major projects — the purchase of the Lesley Ellis and Dearborn schools and the initiation of the “Lesley Thursday Evenings”. My girls received enthusiastically such noted personalities as Robert Frost, Miriam Van Waters, and Emily Kemper.

This year the officers were Brenda Cooky, President; Justin Franklin, Vice-President; Jane Brady, Secretary; Roberta Grush, Treasurer; Joan Flettje, S.G.A., Representative and the class advisor was Miss boothby.

As if I weren’t busy enough trying to get ready for Christmas — Another prom! At the “Christmas Cotillion” held at the Commonwealth Country Club. I watched my beautiful wards walk to the strains of Hal Reves orchestra.

Midyear’s spring vacation and finally June meant that the second big step in the preparation of my future teachers was completed.

Now they were really mine to mold. I seek them out student teaching and can still hear the chatter in the drum and lounge. “Has Miss O’Conner come to see you yet?” “Do you know any ginger plays?” “I just can’t get down on the floor with the children in these tight skirts.”

In addition to keeping my eye on the girls, together with Dr. White, I supervised the erection of our new building. In January I clamped down on the family style classes and insisted upon the initiation of ball.

No one was prouder than when my Lesley was nationally accredited.

As if I hadn’t done enough for them I had to drag out my disgraces and shirt to wear to the Junior-Girl-to-Catcher in the Commuters’ Lounge, and later in February I had to adorn my “moxie- suit” for their “Rose Ball” prom at the Park Inn Hotel. Being an enthusiastic amateur photographer, I sat myself on the camera and watched my beauties dancing with their beaux.

And then it happened! I had barely recuperated from the pain when they dreamt up an idea for a show. It was called “On Stage Everywhere” and was held at the Commander Hotel. This spectacular extravaganza of song, music, and surprise was an overwhelming success. Although my heart was in my mouth from the rise of the curtain to the fall, the applause from the audience convinced me that my concerns had no basis.

One high hope of taking the seniors on the Queen Mary to Europe, we ended up on the Boston Belle en route to Provincetown. Even a trip to Europe could not surpass this excursion with its ship’s songs on the stern, its ballroom idyllic, and her laughter on all decks.

My officers were President, Brenda Cooky; Vice-President, Yvette Berthiambrow; Secretary, Paula Cullen; Treasurer, Lois Middleton; S.G.A., Representative, Shirley Warren.

At the impressive “Step-Up” ceremony, when my girls officially became seniors, I had difficulty keeping the buttons on my vest.

The senior year was officially opened with the presentation of the cap and gowns at the Investiture. The true feeling of seniority was not realized until the freshmen were left at their mercy. Of course, I supervised the whole affair.

Two new ideas were inaugurated — the coffee bar, which was good for the morale, but bad for the waist line; and the “split-ball,” the eight week full day teaching program followed by eight weeks of accelerated study.

My girls took their mid-years to the strains of “Tell Me Why” and “I Won’t Cry Anymore.”

At last they were running down the homestretch — and I neck and neck with them. Before we were to reach the finish line we thought we would give our fellow Lesleyans our last glimpse at our talent. A Senior Show!! I ran my feet flat between my college and the Commander. On opening night as I sat spellbound on a ball in the second row of lights, I couldn’t help wondering where they all would be March 7th of ’35.

My postscript, who through those years had learned to fully enjoy a good time, made known this accomplishment when they were the guests of the juniors. Wanting to be near the person who would be the center of merriment, I peeked on Miss Boothby’s purse.

Excitement mounted as graduation drew near with outings, parties and merriment in general. The gayest event was the Dinner Dance at the Parker House Hotel. They were especially radiant. June 7th, as they marched down the front side of the First Congregational Church of Cambridge led by their officers, President Brenda Cooky, Vice-President, Joan Flettje, Secretary, Paula Cullen; Treasurer, Lois Middleton; S.G.A., Representative, Shirley Warren.

This was the grand finale. All our hearts were tinged with a little sorrow and much joy. The girls were not mine to watch and guide any more, but now they were ready to go out into the world and seek for themselves.

UNDERGRADS

Freshmen perform for seniors in their humorous costumes on the last day of freshmen week.
In our Album of Memories, the Junior year at Lesley will stand out vividly, for this was the year we got our first-hand view of the teaching profession. We were now faced with the teaching problems and active participation in classrooms.

First on our social calendar was the gala Welcome Party for Freshmen and Transfer Students. Thanks to the chairman of the party, Janice Ryan, the afternoon proved to be one packed with capacity fun.

After many long weeks of studying, Christmas with all its festivities arrived. Climaxing a week of endless parties was that wonderful moment of arriving home.

February came, and with it, the Junior Weekend: a sleigh ride, a party, and a prom. The Prom was held at the Hotel Somerset, in the Princess Ballroom. Our two capable chairs, Adele Condlinia and Martha Stickney made “Dreamer's Holiday” another highlight in our Album of Memories. Janice Ryan was crowned Queen of the Prom.

Under the able leadership of Nancy Coleman, and the friendly guidance of Mrs. MacCormack, the Juniors produced a gala Television Show. Thus, another eventful year has passed. There is but one chapter left to complete our album, that being the chapter headed Senior Year.
Throughout our sophomore year we all took part in many activities. Of these, the three most prominent ones were the Freshman Sophomore Party, our Prom, and our Money Maker.

Our first exciting event took place in the gym on October twenty-fourth, with the Freshmen as our guests for the acqaintance party. Lois Thorley, in charge of the fun, presented an introductory game and then talent from both classes was exhibited.

On December 15th, "White Magic," our prom, was held at the Hampshires House. Cindy Johnson and Lucille Leviss were co-chairmen. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Queen Marian Oliver.

Our annual county fair was held in March. Our fortune tellers were an attraction that helped to make our fair a successful feasibility in the crowded gym.

The members of our class gave full cooperation to our class organization and with the guidance of our understanding advisor, Mrs. Berghard, each event was made a memorable one. The year was one full of new experiences, hard work, and fun.
The orientation which filled our first days at Lesley was indeed a wonderful beginning for our college life, for it was during this time that we learned of the warmth and friendliness which is such a big part of our College.

Although we were small in number we had many big plans and under the wonderful and understanding leadership of our advisor, Mrs. Lindsay, we were able to successfully fulfill them. The record hops in January and March were greatly enjoyed as was the Freshman-Senior Party in February.

Our closing event and perhaps the highlight of our first year at Lesley was the Freshman Prom, May 3, at the Sheraton Plaza.

It has been both socially and scholastically a happy and full year that gives us all hope for a bright future at Lesley.
CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES
STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association, under our able president, Barrie Gay Brooks, has carried out its duties this year of promoting social activities, bringing a stronger bond between the student body, and creating unity between the administration and the students of the college.

Several acquaintance dances were held during the year under the auspices of our Social Co-chairs. These dances proved to promote many lasting acquaintances!

A residence committee was formed in the fall with Nancy Coleman as chairman. This committee is a subsidiary of the Student Government. It consists of the house presidents with Mrs. Caldwell as advisor. The committee handled all problems in the dining room and have made many improvements.

The All College Christmas Party and the Christmas party for under-privileged children were both successful.

We have enjoyed and appreciated the constant help and understanding of our advisor, Dr. Crockett.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT COURT

The Student Government Court meets each Monday afternoon that there is a need. Its purpose is to uphold all rules and regulations made by the Student Government Association.

A student summoned to the court states her case and the court of eighteen girls decides her innocence or guilt. Each case is recorded by the secretary.

This group, which puts forth every effort for justice and right, has the high respect of each student.

The Compass Club entered its second year with renewed vigor, ambitious plans, and big ideas. A Kreis (county) in the American sector of Germany was adopted by the Club, and once a month we put a package together and mailed it to the populace of Dillberks. Toys, clothing, foodstuffs, soaps, and money found their ways across the seas to our county. It was a project that gave heart to them and satisfaction to us.

As usual, the Compass Club publicized and sponsored the American Red Cross Blood Drives and saw them through to highly successful conclusions.

Santa’s workshops on Campus required, repainted, and remodeled discarded toys for the underprivileged children, making each of us feel that she had a part in making some child’s Christmas a little happier.

Of course, we must not forget the individual work at some Red Cross or Red Feather Agency that each girl did. If it was not a settlement house, or the Perkins Institute it was at the Children’s Hospital.

A most successful second year has come to our far reaching Compass Club.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ring and Jane Johnson, has had a successful year. Early in October a tea was given to welcome the new members.

We participated in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Concerts. A program was presented at Open House. In May we gave Gilbert and Sullivan’s “Trial by Jury,” directed by Mr. Edwin Benjamin.

Maureen McArthur and Marion Levin sang in the chorus in the Leverett House production of Gilbert and Sullivan’s opera “The Sorcerer.”

Dorothy Ross, Barbara Livingston, Betty Butler, Barbara Johnston, Paula Cullen, and Brenda Cooney formed a sextet and sang at the New England Teachers Preparatory Conference which was held in Swampscott.

Perhaps the most memorable occasion of the year was singing in hospitals and on the Boston Common at Christmas time.

We can all say that the past year truly has been one of happiness and success for each member of the Glee Club.

Two dramatic performances, Fraternity initiation, banquets and play rehearsals are just a few of the memorable events that have made this a busy year for the Dramatic Club.

Our first production was "As I Lay Dying" by William Faulkner. Under the able leadership of our director, Edward Jancewitz, and with the help of our talented cast, it proved to be a great success. Included in the cast were Bernice Kaufman playing the lead, Bette Anne McCarthy, Joan Czerwonska, Sylvia Cohen, Lucille Levis, Drusilla Sacks and Carol McKenna.

Our second production was Edna Ferber's "Stage Door" which was directed by Luella Nelson and presented at the Boston Conservatory Auditorium on May 1st. The leading role was played by Nancy Edmonds, who was backed by a cast including Bette Anne McCarthy, Pat Murphy, Frances Sullivan, Ann Regan, Helen Kalton, Carol McKenna, Joan Flentje, Joan Czerwonska, Alice Chiantian, Lucille Levis, Jeanne Raynard, Marie Marchi, Ann Kenney, Mary Ferrick, Sue Cooper and Anne Starks.

With the help of our advisor Dr. Alkins, we have had a year that we shall long remember. So it has been filled with many happy times and successes.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

This is a national honorary dramatic fraternity including both men and women. The requirements for initiation are for the member to have worked for a dramatic production equal to two major roles, and to be elected to the society.

The society was originated here at Lesley in 1941, and is then was known as The Lesley Players. Cast 144. The director was Alma MacCormack, a charter member. Other charter members were Amy Cunningham, Betty Dodge, Ann Swenson, and Irene Shullman.

In 1951 the fraternity came into prominence again with the election of Roberta Gruen, Barrie Gay Brooks, Bette Anne McCarthy, Brenda Gourley and Merle Crotnin. They were initiated at a ceremony held at the Hampshire House. Serving as advisor to the group was Dr. Atkins, who holds membership in the fraternity also.

This year our fraternity chapter has grown even greater with the election of Patricia Murphy, Ann Starks, Mary Marchi, Marie Marchi, Sylvia Cohen, Louise Turbo, Joan Cogan, Patricia Alexander, Dorothy Newton, Joan Flentje, and honorary members President White and Dean Thorburn. The banquet honoring these members has become an annual custom and this year was held at the Town House in Boston.

With each new production of the club, our chapter grows and promises to bring more enjoyment and honor for those elected.
A most successful year was experienced by the largest membership in the history of the Outing Club. With activities getting underway at the very beginning of the school year there was fun and frolic for all.

A Weenie Roast Beach Party was held in October at Patty Alexander's cottage in Essex. Such a wonderful time was had that we returned later for an encore.

An exciting Bay Role Dance in October was followed by an Acquaintance Square Dance with Tufts College. Horseback riding in the Blue Hills and the Splash Party at the Harvard Pool will long be remembered.

Many humps and bruises were forgotten with a smile during the exciting ski weekend at the Sargent Camp in Peterborough, N. H., where Janice Kimball was crowned Queen of the weekend.

The Outing Club climax'd the year with its wonderful annual Spring Salmagundi where Judy Sandborn was crowned Queen with Marcia Egan as first attendant. Members of the court were Della MacAskill, Virginia Bentley, Mary Ann Corcoran, and Susan Dallahan.

The year ended with an exciting beach party proving to all that it was because of such an enterprising schedule that the Outing Club had a most memorable year.

Miss Breunner, club officers, committee chairmen and their members, deserve a great deal of credit for such a highly successful year.

Hillel Club

The aim of the Hillel Club is to bring to the Jewish girls at Lesley the spiritual, educational and social life of our people.

We meet bi-monthly at Lesley where we try to meet the wishes of our members by having speakers, movies, and social activities.

This year we have had several speakers including our director, Rabbi Maurice Zigmond. Every two months we held Sunday afternoon dances at Hillel House with Harvard, M.I.T., and other men's colleges in the Boston Area.

In December we had a very successful inter-faith meeting at Lesley where the story of Chanukah was told. Both Hebrew songs and Christmas cards were sung.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club aims to foster the spiritual, educational, and social life of the Catholic Students at Lesley. Our Chaplain for this year was Father John Kenney; and our faculty advisor, Dr. Ruth Mackray.

The Newman Club meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month.

The first meeting of the year was the festive “Sweet-Tooth” Party to introduce the new members to the old members.

A Day of Recollection was held at Jeanne D’Arc Academy in Milton in November.

An acquaintance dance was held in December. Its huge success has encouraged it to be an annual affair.

A Communion Breakfast in May concluded the year’s activities with the installation of new officers.

We feel that we have had a very successful year and have been able to accomplish our aims.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The Student Christian Association at Lesley is composed of girls of the various Protestant faiths working together to get a better understanding of their religion and of their place in the world today.

We have been very fortunate in having Miss Dolber as our able club advisor. Patricia Cullen, Florence Gutt, and Della MacArdill arranged a very tasty dessert party last October, which everyone well remembers.

Last November we sponsored a dance called “November Shuffle” to raise money to send a representative to the National Conference at the University of Kansas during Christmas vacation. Thanks go to Mildred Fisher, Florence Gutt, Martha Schultz and Carolyn McGrath for making the affair a big success.

We were privileged this year to greet our friends in a brightly redecorated lounge. Our first event of the year was the annual Penguin Dance on November 3, at the Hotel Somerset. The dance was well attended and our attractive Vice-President, Ruth Roach, was chosen Queen by a select group of judges.

At Christmas, the faculty and commuters joined together for a gala party in the lounge. There was food, fun, and presents for all. Alice Mary Roche made it possible for Santa Claus to visit our party.

Our new officers were installed at the banquet in April. The first duties of the officers were to plan and to carry out the serving of a buffet luncheon for students and guests of the college at Open House.

In conclusion we would like to express our deep appreciation for the truly genuine interest shown for our activities and our members by Mrs. Seaboyer, our club advisor.
ORCHESTRA

The orchestra is a small group of girls who meet once a week in a congenial atmosphere to play some of their favorite orchestral music. The girls are interested in keeping in touch with their instruments and in playing harmoniously with other instruments. The orchestra was originated only last year by a Lesley student, now a senior, Barbara Burrows. It is under the staff guidance of Mrs. Ring.

It is hoped by members of the orchestra as well as by other members of the college, that by next year the orchestra will enlarge and will take active participation in the college activities.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

During the past school year the International Relations Club has enjoyed a varied and informative program. In October, Father Crowley, a missionary from Jamaica, spoke to us of the prevailing conditions in the British West Indies. His visit was followed by a drive for shoes to be sent to the children of Jamaica.

Other club activities have been a tea for the International Student Association in Cambridge, a Greek Christmas celebration, a Swedish luncheon, a sale of foreign pastries made by club members, a trip to the United Nations building in New York City, various holiday record hops, the adoption of children from a foreign city and a terminal banquet.

To our faculty advisor, Miss DeLuca, goes our appreciation for her interest, guidance, and wholehearted support.

FROSTY-FROLIC-DANCE

PEEP-IN

The Lantern, Lesley's bi-weekly newspaper, keeps the students, faculty, and friends informed of the popular college activities. Editorials, interviews, news, pictures, and literature constitute the reason for a bigger paper. The cooperation of the staff aids its success.

During the year, the Staff toured the Boston Herald-Traveler and learned to appreciate the organization of a newspaper. In order to acquire more funds for the publication, the Lantern staff received subscriptions from parents and alumni. In November a very successful dance was given by the staff.

Improved Lantern and larger circulation have been the results of enthusiasm within the staff, interest of the collegians, and the constant efforts of our advisor, Dr. Atkins.
DORMITORIES

Resident House Committee: For a happy living situation there must be efficient and understanding leadership. On the Committee are 1st row, P. L. Voight, N. Coleman, B. Van DeCar; 2nd row, M. Oliver, B. Childers, and M. McQuade. Not pictured: L. Wheaton.
There are many incidents that we will remember from our January days at Jenckes, but the most prominent are these —

JENCKES HALL

- President: Lillian Wheaton
- Vice-President: Merrill Campbell
- Secretary: Anne Holloman
- Treasurer: Mary Lou Catledge
- Social Chair: Barbara Johnson

Jenckes was a place for fun, and the Christmas tree was no exception. Each year, the tree was decorated with lights and ornaments, creating a festive atmosphere. The seniors, who were responsible for the decorations, worked tirelessly to ensure that the tree was as beautiful as possible. The tree was located in the center of the hall, and everyone gathered around to admire its beauty. The tree was illuminated with bright lights, and the ornaments were carefully placed, making it a beautiful sight to behold.

EVERETT HALL

- President: Peggy Lou Vincent
- Vice-President: Barbara Cramoey
- Secretary: Peggy Berens
- Treasurer: Martin Levin

The twenty-second of September saw the opening of Everett Hall when Miss Schausel was up bright and early getting the house ready for all the new girls.

The first to arrive was Martin Levin, full of excitement and a bit of nervousness. Shortly after, the two girls appeared on the scene, ready to greet their new roommate.

The following Thursday, a new student arrived, making the house a lively place. The students were eager to make new friends and explore their new surroundings. The social events were a great opportunity for the students to bond and have fun together. The house was known for its lively atmosphere, with parties and events planned throughout the week.

The history of the two halls is rich with memories and stories that will be remembered for years to come. The students of Jenckes and Everett will always cherish the time they spent together, creating lasting friendships and memories that will last a lifetime.

All hail to the girls at Hammond Hall! All hail to those that are best of all! Let’s raise our voices to a song. Let’s sing our praises loud and long. About this wonderful group of eight. We’ll now introduce to you...

First there’s June, our red-haired yellow, Welcome, charming, and ever so bright!

Barbara, our head leader fine, A voice of beauty — she’ll never be blue.

Joyce, our blonde and steady soul, In always in a world of Bliss.

Carmen’s next with a wonderful smile, She’s daring and dainty, her heart’s without gage.

There’s June, our gift to the social whirl, A pretty girl, sweet and most of all, a girl.

Our mall, S.G.A.’s, Maggie’s her name. Its dancing and writing she hopes to gain favor.

Ruthie Huthert is our Senior grand, She’ll always be a helping hand.

Bette R., a staccato and sweet out of all, Is the best one could ever wish for a call.

We’ll give a big cheer for our own Moe Bond, That house rather kind, of whom we’re most fond.

All hail to the girls at Hammond Hall! All hail to those that are best of all!

OXFORD HALL

President ................. Mariel McGarva
Vice-President ............. Janet North
Secretary .................. Joan Brin
Treasurer .................. Noreen Barnes

It can never be said that Oxford lacks personalities. We have a home for all of them. Each one is very different and yet yielding in its own way to the life in the freshmen house.

This last game was usually met by opening the door to Mrs. Seabury, the housemother who is patient and good humor personified. On a sound coming between nine and ten, three quarters of the girls congregates in the smoker. June can be found in her familiar place at the piano with Carol Miller, seriously practicing her singing. The hedge table is usually occupied by Mrs. Nuney, Martha, and Alice with Jane, Jack, and Joan Houseback. Singing eagerly to take someone’s hand. That constant tap of the piano to the lyrics for Joan Reinhard in his fat field. Late Christmas is now nearing them to clear the floor for their New Year call. The absence of views and hearing is caused by the dramatic club rehearsing and the music coming from another is not the Boston Symphony rehearsing but Edith with her Martha Louise records. The two indomitable workers over in the corner are Jane Cook and Norma Bony who are playing some new activity for the benefit of the college. That note that can be heard is clearly from the staircase in unthoughtfully softly with some new idea or lovely greeting. Pondered less are looking solicitously for some assignment. Mrs. Jones is just being Mary and scanning general conversations. Joan both is packing her for her own wondrousfeet while Dianne turns seaward to finish one of her patterns. Terry and Joan Keen have gone to the games for their evening stock. In less than an hour the house will quiet down for the night.

Inauguration Service: President White, Bernice Geczy, Senior class president.

Vespers Service: Dr. Gaskell led the students in 15 minutes of worship at the weekly vespers service in the Library. J. Johnson, M. Bower, J. Curnoe, and T. Houston are other participants in this week's service.

Open House: The Art room is always a main attraction. Here are exhibited puppets, dolls, paper mache animals, and the big paper witchman masks made by students.

Christmas Commotion. Taking part in the celebration are E. Carlisle and A. Kuparuk, shoppers; C. Goller, the mother Mary; V. Beaton, the watchful angel; H. Gleason, C. Wilson, and A. McCay, the three Kings of Orient.

Class Day: Banners dressed in pastel adhere high the floor of decorated auditorium through which the seniorALs pass.

Commencement Exercises. As each senior receives her degree, a blue and green hood signifying education and loyalty to Leddy is placed over her shoulders.
In recognition of her untiring efforts, her sympathetic understanding, and her sincere personal interest in the production of this book, we members of the LESLEYAN staff take this opportunity to express our deep gratitude to our faculty advisor, Miss Catherine E. DeLuca.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Into each page of this Lesleyan has gone the efforts of many people. These combined efforts have produced a book which we hope you will always enjoy.

We wish to express our sincerest appreciation to our faculty advisor, Miss Catherine E. Deluca, for her constant assistance.

We wish, too, to thank both Professor Sharples and Howard Richardson for the hours of art work that is seen throughout the book.

We are extremely grateful to our publisher, Mr. Wrightson, and our Lincoln Studios photographers for their willingness to advise and their constant cooperation.

This book would not be published were it not for the underlying interest and cooperation received from Lesley students, faculty, and administration. We thank you, everyone.
