Two Campus Queens

"Lady of May" Judith Hurley

"Queen of the 1960 May", a title never to be held again, belongs to Judith Hurley, a very Lovely Lesley La . . . ! Pretty Judy is a senior commuter, gracefully tall at five feet seven and one half inches. She was crowned with a wreath of yellow roses at the start of the May Day festivities, May 3, by Dr. Livingston Stebbins.

No one, except for the committee that counted the ballots, knew whose name was in the special envelope. Judy emphasized that she was absolutely surprised and that her pleasure in winning was immeasurable. Judy also stated, "I am pleased to have had so beautiful a court." She also expressed a "thank you" to Barbara Smith for her song of honor.

Judy has never before been a contestant in any such contest. This dark brown-haired and brown-eyed winner keeps her lovely complexion with plain soap and water. She wears eyebrow pencil and lipstick only, letting her inner glow radiate. Her personality is as lovely as her self.

Judy is a member of the Lesley Basketball team. She skis (some) and plays tennis well. This contact with the out-of-doors seems to help a beauty queen. In school Judy has been a good student. She especially enjoys the Shakespeare course which she is taking this semester.

Known among her friends to be an excellent teacher, Judy will, as well make as charming a teacher in California in September as she made a charming queen in Cambridge in May.

A LOVELY DAY RECAPTURED

Although Lesley celebrated May Day on the third day rather than the traditional first day of the month, the gaiety and sunshine of the festivity were reflected in the happy faces and pretty frocks of all the participants and spectators.

The festivities opened with the procession of Seniors through an archway of yellow spring roses held proudly by the Juniors. Shirley Spiegelman, Mistress of Ceremonies opened the day's program officially and introduced Dr. Livingston Stebbins who crowned the Queen. Judy Hurley was chosen a lovely queen to reign over the festivities, and was surrounded by a glamorous court consisting of Shelia Helinger, Judy Weisman, Elaine Zucker, and Helen Murphy. Following the crowning of the queen was a song of tribute sung by Barbara Smith.

Each class was then called upon to perform their melody for the annual song contest and the plaque for the winning class was presented later in the program by Dean Thurber to the Class of 1962!

A Story of May Day was told by Ruth Gesmer. The story included a

READ THIS: It's Your Honor

Sally Galway: Chairman

There are many things we hope for in the school year 1960-1961. The changes we want may be better grades, more interest in a club we have found fulfilling, or even a change of men in our lives. When we think of a new year, or the future we always hope for something to improve by change, or for some new way to improve ourselves as individuals.

There will be many changes at Lesley College next year, and one of these will be the honor system. The NEW honor system will be a system of complete self-honor. Each girl will be responsible for her own conduct always keeping in mind the responsibility she has to her fellow students. We often forget as we rationalize for ourselves that even our best friend and/or room mate is not able to rationalize for us, nor can we for her. Under the honor system we have a responsibility to report ourselves; we also have a duty to admonish another if a rule or regulation of Lesley College is violated.

The Honor Board also will be new. There will be an Honor Board Chairman, Vice-chairman, a representative from each class, a representative of the dorm students, commuters, and the president of Student Government Association. These girls as a board will consider each case brought before them and arrive at a verdict.

A girl who has violated a rule or regulation of the college is on her honor to report herself to Honor Board. There will be an Honor-Board box situated in a strategic place which should be used for communication to Honor Board. When the Honor Board meets, the letter, which need only be a note, will be numbered and read with the signature omitted. The case will be discussed and a verdict reached. The verdict will be returned to the girl in letter form. If a girl wants to plead her case before the board, this would be arranged. If the honor board feels that they can not make a decision without further information from a girl then they will ask her to come and explain her case.

Yes, there will be a change. We as individuals will prove that it is a change for the betterment of Lesley; a change that will further develop our integrity and self-respect as well as our respect for others.

I would like to close with a quote from The Honor System in Higher Education by John Sanders. "The objectives of an Honor System, which should be attained concurrently with the development of the 'honor spirit', the virtue of personal integrity, include . . . a strong sense of mutual responsibility, respect, trust, and equity among all members of the campus community . . . students, faculty, and administration."

THE TUB REVISITED

"Stupy" died a premature death on Friday, April 8. Gerri Milhender, teacher of nursery school children and friend of all little creatures, administered the last rites. "Stupy" was given a Christian funeral because Gerri couldn't decide what religion he was, and anyhow, it was easier to make a cross than six-pointed star. On the evening of Wednesday, April 27, the Vermont farmer, Penny Smith, transplanted a hyacinth for a headstone. Pallbearers Sally Galway, Sybil Nassau, Gerri, and Penny said a few kind words and the grave of poor "Stupy Turtle", faithful friendly companion of the children from the First Parish Cooperative Unitarian Nursery school in Watertown (Non-Sectarian) was marked forever.

The total of the Building Fund as of April 1, 1960, is $6,257.41.

The total of the Dr. White Memorial Fund is $2105.64.

Jeannette Hobbs, Student Leader

The LANTERN is proud to present to the students of Lesley College, indeed a college queen, Miss Jeannette Hobbs, President of Student Government for 1960-61. Jeannette was formerly presented to the Student Body at the Building Fund Bazaar. She took over as president officially at the Student Government Installation April 21. The LANTERN is particularly proud, for Jeannette was Editor-in-Chief this last year, 1959-60.

As the new president, Jeannette made the following comment about the year ahead . . . "We are very fortunate to begin our term with a very enthusiastic and industrious council. Our plans for the ensuing year are based on the feelings and suggestions of the student body. Plans for the year ahead at the moment include a Parents' Weekend and an All-College Winter Weekend. We are especially looking forward to our association with Lesley's new president. We have before us the opportunities of a wonderful year and we plan to take every advantage of them."

Jeannette, who lives in Needham, Massachusetts, attended Colby College in Waterville, Maine, for her freshman year. Then upon deciding to become an elementary grade teacher, she came to Lesley College. Between Colby and Lesley, she spent a summer taking courses at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida.

At Lesley, Jeannette (Jini) has been an active member of several organizations. Last year she taught art at the Christ Child House, Cambridge, as part of the work done by the Lesley Service Organization. As Editor-in-Chief of the LANTERN this past year, she worked successfully to improve the LANTERN in many ways, big and small. Jeannette is also a member of Vespers, the Friends of the Library, and, for her outstanding work throughout her college years she was honored

Passing of Pioneer

Mrs. Anna Savolainen, the first student to enroll in Lesley College in 1909, died April 19 at the age of seventy-six. She was guest of honor at the 50th Anniversary Celebration of Lesley College last year. There she was recognized as the first student enrolled and graduated from Lesley. She was presented with an honorary Master's Degree.

Mrs. Savolainen came to the United States from Finland in 1906. Throughout her life she worked as the second home demonstration extension agent for the St. Louis [Virginia] county. In this work she helped to make rural life healthier. She also worked to organize child welfare clinics.

Mrs. Savolainen shall, in her special distinction, always be a part of Lesley history.

Too Few Enjoy College Outing

"Oh what a beautiful morning!" exclaimed a few of the Lesley girls gathered in the amphitheatre, awaiting the departure for the All College Outing. Yes, the weather was perfect for the picnic. The rain that was expected as the usual procedure on the day of the outing was lost in the glare of the hot sun. This all happened on Saturday, April 30.

The buses arrived on schedule and so did the food. There was plenty of food! Everyone lent a hand to help Mr. Oedel put the food "on board" the bus. Some of the food was returned to the capable hands of the kitchen attendants, for the small number of girls could never have consumed all that food in three days.

It was a pleasant ride — for the girls anyway. The chaperones, Mr. Oedel and his wife, heard a wonderful concert all the way to Rocky Woods Reservation and all the way back. How fortunate they were that the girls were happy and spirited, for hidden musical talents were displayed in songs such as "Three Jolly Fishermen" and "Sentimental Journey".

Almost immediately after the girls arrived they grabbed a little snack of brownies and hot dogs. This was only an appetizer which was followed with more hot dogs and brownies for dessert. It was difficult to determine when the appetizer ended and the meal began. But the outing was a treat and there was no point in dieting. The afternoon was spent in complete relaxation, sun bathing and boat rides. Tinfoil reflectors were numerous; Pat Day and Sue Newman certainly proved this point when they walked off the bus with beet-red faces.

There were sports to be played but the heat brought on laziness. Everyone just felt like lying in the sun. The freshmen even lacked the energy to read about the French Revolution for their history exam on the following Monday. There was a group of younger boys, however, who made use of our volley ball. Fortunately, Gerry Milhender rescued it from the lake when the boys missed a catch.

At three o'clock the group had to leave despite their wishes to remain in the sun forever. Next year we are planning more events to make the outing an even better success!

The Lantern Speaks

From the Editor's Corner

"Where all think alike, no one thinks very much."

This quote from the pen of Walter Lippman, aptly expresses LANTERN'S policy for the coming year. While upholding the high standards set for us, we hope to provoke thought among our student body. Not argumentative thought as one might expect, but intellectual exercise — the kind which leaves one feeling refreshed. News can sometimes be dry and not particularly interesting. However, news need not be uninteresting. Aided by a group of highly capable editors and staff reporters, this editor will endeavor to bring the best and most interesting material to her fellow students. That is our aim. Too often, we of the LANTERN are in positions where we hear gripes and complaints about the LANTERN. These comments hurt — not because they are said, but because no one attempts to do anything — but complain. Therefore, to overcome this, we are establishing two columns on this page, expressly for you, as students of Lesley. We expect to hear your criticisms, advice, comments on current events, or anything that's bothering you and is worth printing. Your editorials will be printed under "The Invited Guest", and your letters under "We Get Letters". As time goes on, you will notice other changes in LANTERN. Again, we are provoking thought.

In closing, we of the new LANTERN staff wish to say to the old LANTERN staff, a warm and grateful thank you.

The Invited Guest

... Is It All Right?

The execution of Caryl Chessman on May 2, 1960, increases the necessity for America to be introspective. It is time for this country to turn to the Democratic theories and constitution on which it was founded and see how far its practices have strayed.

Perhaps the greatest attribute of Democracy is the degree of importance and fair treatment it has placed on the individual. The contention here is that the decisions the courts recently made in opposition to Chessman did not consider the individual, but only the paper-written laws. Every case involving law decisions is different. For this reason the courts have the power, as a basis for decision, to interpret the laws that have been passed. One court in reviewing an appeal from Chessman rejected his pleas because they felt it was unconstitutionally cruel for him to have had so many stays of execution in the last twelve years. The vote here was 4 to 3 — a one man decision. This reasoning seems almost ridiculous. If the man was supposed to be executed, then it should have been done twelve years ago, and not now when he has had the time to educate himself and settle the inner conflict which led him to commit the crimes.

Somewhere there is a discrepancy in the basis for sending a man to his death. Leopold went completely free after a lengthy jail stay for a premeditated vicious murder. Chessman was sent to the gas chamber for crimes which manifested his need for psychiatric treatment and not death. Where is the individual reasoning which sends a man to his death after twelve years of an uphill climb? Chessman's last words were, "It's all right." IS IT ALL RIGHT?

MEMO: To Teachers Everywhere

A pupil is the most important person in any school.

A pupil is no more dependent on his teacher than the teacher is on him.

A pupil is never an interruption — he is the purpose of our work.

A pupil serves us by his presence as much as we serve him.

A pupil is part of our school, not an outsider.

A pupil is not a cold statistic, a name and a column of symbols in a grade book; he is a flesh and blood human being with emotions like our own.

A pupil is not someone to argue or match wits with.

A pupil is a person who brings us his needs; it is our job to fill those needs.

A pupil deserves the most courteous and attentive treatment a teacher can give him.

Pupils are the life blood of this or of any school.

MEET OFFICERS OF S.G.A.

A roving Lantern reporter went out recently to interview the new SGA officers. A problem arose. Where can an SGA officer be found? The solution was simple — at an SGA meeting!

The first interview was with VICE-PRESIDENT GERRI MILHENDER. Gerri, I discovered, comes from Newton and was quite active in Newton High. Here at Lesley, she has become known to the Freshmen as their class leader. Her other claims to fame include being president of Concordia Hall in her freshman year, and president of her sophomore class. Gerri was also the secret author of the "Diogenes" column. Among her interests are: music — especially the piano, sailing, golf, and tennis. Gerri offers good advice in her quip, "Always behave like a duck. Keep calm on the surface, but paddle like the devil underneath!"

WINNIFRED BRANCH, CORRESPONDING SECRETARY, is from Belmont, where she attended high school. Winni was a member of the Belmontian Club, and served as a Red Cross Volunteer. She has served Lesley College as a member of the LANTERN staff, LSO, and Friends of the Library. Walking and horseback riding are among her interests. Winni feels that "Lesley is a very good school. It takes the student body to make the school what it should be; to talk it up instead of down."

SANDRA WILES was active in the dramatic club of Abbot Academy, Andover. Our RECORDING SECRETARY is from Marlboro. She has been extremely active at Lesley where she is in her third year on Government.

Sandra was president of the Junior class, Elections Chairman, and co-chairman of the May Day celebration. In her freshman year she was Fire Warden of her dorm, and Decorations Chairman of the Freshman project. Sports interest this girl who said, "We have a nice group of cooperative girls and with everybody working together we'll have a successful year."

GOLDA SIEGEL, TREASURER didn't tell us where she hails from (as if we didn't know), but she did list her main interest as the Theatre. In her Sophomore year, Golda was president of the Drama Club. This year she was Elections Chairman and the Business Editor for the PENDULUM. Golda aptly commented, "Lesley gives to you what you give to it — money fits in here somewhere!"

PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN, BARBARA STREIFERD, attended Quincy High in her home town of Quincy. While at Quincy she was an active member of the Glee Club, French Club, and Girls Club. She was on the Senior Prom Committee and was Secretary of National Student Teachers Association. Emerald Key, Glee Club, Student Christian, and Penguin Club are among her activities here at Lesley. She was an officer of the latter three. Barbara was on the Handbook Committee in her Freshman year and chairman in her Sophomore year. She lists her interests as dancing, singing, swimming, and, of course, going to Worcester Tech.

After watching the girls at their government meeting, Lesley's Student government is sure to have a successful year.

"Education is like having an operation. You don't know you've had it until long after it's over."

New Light for LANTERN.

Sybil Nassau, Lantern Editor

"Remember girls, this is your newspaper and it cannot succeed without your support." These are the words of Sybil Nassau, the new Editor-in-Chief of our LANTERN. Sybil's main goal as editor is to achieve unity — unity of our entire staff. Sybil intends to maintain the high LANTERN standards and at the same time keep the flavoring of a college newspaper. Sybil hopes to be able to publish more issues of LANTERN so that news will be better circulated.

Our editor feels very fortunate in working with an excellent staff, all proficient in their various fields. However, the backbone of this organization is Dr. Oliver, Sybil remarked, "and he has done more for LANTERN than any one person can imagine."

Sybil enjoys journalism and has a solid background in this field. At Concord High School she was one of the editors of the paper called "Pow Wow". In her Freshman year at Lesley she joined the LANTERN news staff. A year ago she then became the first person to hold the position of Rewrite Editor. Here she put her high school knowledge to work. As head of the rewrite staff, Sybil had close control over all articles. After working closely with Jeannette Hobbs, past editor-in-chief, Sybil now feels capable of successful leadership.

A high school English teacher impressed Sybil with the need for organization. Organization of staff, and of course, of writing. He insisted ("and I mean insisted" Sybil asserted), on perfect grammar and punctuation. There was no excuse for failure to achieve correctness. One must learn to criticize his own work objectively. Sybil also credited her father for instilling in her an appreciation for the beauty of the English language. He also emphasized the importance of saying exactly what one means, in as few words as possible.

Lesley can look to Sybil and her staff for many worthwhile issues.

S.G.C. Comments

Student government council members are girls with definite jobs to do. Few students realize what the specific jobs entail. Here is an introduction to the council members and a description of their duties.

CLASS PRESIDENTS: Senior Class — Ellen Green; Junior Class — Penelope Smith, Sophomore Class — Joyce Levy: The class presidents have similar duties as council members. They represent their classes by bringing questions, class news, and problems to council and carrying answers to questions and reports of school news back to class meetings.

CLASS HONOR BOARD REPRESENTATIVES: Senior Class — Ann Hather; Junior Class — Cynthia Englund; Sophomore Class — Marilyn Kramer: The duties of the Honor Board Representatives are two-fold. Each represents her class on the new Honor Board, acting as a part of that committee. The girls serve as members of the class executive boards and as second class representatives at government meetings.

FRESHMAN LEADER; Mimi Shaw: "As Freshman Leader, I am looking forward to welcoming the incoming Freshman class. I shall do my best to help them as their student advisor and shall preside over their meetings until they elect their officers. Pam Nevins, ASSISTANT FRESHMAN LEADER, is in charge of the Freshman-Sophomore Week. We are sure it will be a great success and fun for everyone."

LANTERN REPRESENTATIVE; Sybil Nassau: The LANTERN'S place on government, instilled in its Editor-in-chief, rests in the benefit LANTERN achieves in being exposed to all school news. This way items of importance and interest can be added to the LANTERN issues.

PENGUIN CLUB PRESIDENT; Rosalie Mogan: Penguin Club's representation on the council gives the commuters a chance to learn about Lesley activities. This news is carried back to the club meetings. Their representation also affords a "commuter's view" of any government activities.

STORE MANAGERS; Judith Davidson and Diane Gracia: Store Managers, who operate the College Store during the noon hours, bring to government news about new items that will be for sale. This year they have introduced many new goods for purchase such as the mugs, night shirts, college plates, sweatshirts, etc. Through the store, too, blazers were brought to Lesley. They work for a larger and more popular store stock so that strong support will be given to The Store.

ASSEMBLY CHAIRMAN; Starr Schulman: "As I look forward to the coming school year, I hope that each student will want to attend the assembly programs. In order to accomplish this goal, I hope to have as many enjoyable and interesting college assemblies and special programs as possible. As a result, I hope that the school's

Government Retreats

The weekend of April 21-22 was the retreat of the Student Government Council for all old and new members. The members discussed the past year in connection with the coming year, working for improvement where it was needed.

A Student Government Idea Box is going to be available next year for the students to put any ideas or improvements they think will help the college. These ideas will then be brought up and discussed in the Student Government meeting.

The election of the Student Government president and her executive board was discussed. In the fall the Student Government will meet with girls eligible for the office of president, also a meeting of same nature will be held for the girls eligible for executive board.

A new activity that is being planned for next year is a parent's weekend. It will be held some weekend in the Spring, having various activities planned.

The Student Government Council discussed many things, working for improvement so that all Lesley endeavors next year will be a success.

medley of songs by the Madrigals clothed in pantaloons under the leadership of Penny Smith, and accompanied by the humorous antics of Marie Giordano. Barbara Smith sang another May Day Carol, and the Modern Dance group floated through the amphitheater as Spirits of May.

Highlighted in the program was the May Pole Dance performed by the Lesley Ellis children. In tune with spring the children pranced into the amphitheater, danced, and wound the maypole amid much laughter and applause.

We might also add that Mrs. Benson's granddaughter Kathy Glazier added much joy to the program throughout which she was often seen, and she bravely bore the garland of roses for the queen's crowning.

At present Jeannette is student-teaching in the fourth-grade at Baker School in Brookline. First semester she taught in a transitional class at Buckingham School, Cambridge. In June, Jeannette will be married and will be known as Mrs. Philip F. Valence, Student Government President.

Meet "Leslie"

(The Building Fund's Angel)

This certainly has been a successful year for the Building Fund at Lesley! Let's look back to the very beginning of the year and see our friend "Leslie Builds", a loyal Lesley Daughter who is very anxious to see her college grow. It's October 29, 1959 the day of the Building Fund Cake Sale and we see Leslie with three pieces of chocolate cake, one éclair, and one dozen pieces of Chinese candy, all of which she is trying to balance on top of a cup of coffee with three lumps of sugar. (You see, Leslie doesn't mind if her waist line grows as long as she is helping the Building Fund enlarge.) Her friends also supported the Cake Sale and thanks to everyone plus the chairman Joan Perlroth, $65.00 was made.

Soon it is December and we see Leslie at the International Food Sale. Charleen Dinner, Chairman of this event, was glad that Leslie and all her friends had such good appetites, for $104.00 was raised for our Fund.

To end the first semester, Leslie felt she needed a little luck on her final exams, so every day she proudly wore her Building Fund horseshoe after making her contribution in the little box.

The horseshoe worked for we see Leslie Builds at our Annual Bazaar March 17th. She is having her picture taken behind the Lantern Elf Frame while she eats a hot dog purchased from the first floor White Hall Booth, and with her spare hand is tossing rings on a Modern Dancer's leg. Busy Day — I'll say, for the Building Fund raised $301.00. And look who is in Grey Hall's Jail! Why, it's Amy Stellar, Chairman of the Bazaar. Poor girl, she deserves a little rest after so much hard work.

The very next night Leslie attended the Building Fund Mixer. She didn't dance all night for she was busy collecting donations with Ruth Judlowe at the door for the Building Fund.

May brought Tag Week with the help of Gail Coates and we couldn't miss Leslie for she was covered from head to toe with tags.

So you see it was a successful year both for Leslie and for the Building Fund. Leslie is now ready to start her summer vacation. She hopes our new building will be started when she returns to Lesley College next year. But Leslie, you can't leave yet, you forgot to put a donation in Dr. Crockett's piggy bank!

interest in the college and outside affairs will be stimulated."

CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN; Sandra Rosenthal: "The duties of the Conference Chairman include making arrangements and organizing all conferences and conventions that are of interest and value to the student body. Most conferences are open to the entire student body. Some must have members approved by the executive board of each class. Hope to see you at a conference next year!"

ELECTION CHAIRMAN; Margie Wolbarst: "As chairman I schedule and supervise government, class, club and dormitory elections, with the aid of the election committee. We also approve speeches of candidates, supervise election procedures and tabulate the votes. The goal of the election committee for the coming year is to establish a smooth running schedule which will make elections quick and well-organized processes. Any girls interested in being a part of this committee may submit their names to me."

BUILDING AND GROUNDS CHAIRMAN; Sheila Klein: "As chairman of Buildings and Grounds I am, with my committee (composed of Safety Representatives from each dorm), in charge of fire and air-raid drills. The care and maintenance and improved appearance of the campus rests with every student under this committee's chairmanship. To keep the dorm students aware of building ground business I am a member of the Residence Board."

HANDBOOK CHAIRMAN; Cynthia Zalvan: "The Handbook Chairman and her committee are in charge of the Student Handbook which, each year, provides the student body with information about college rules, student affairs and the administration. Each year the content of the book is changed. The chairman is also responsible for compiling a Freshman Register which provides pictures and names of the incoming freshmen. This helps all class members become acquainted more easily."

RECREATION CHAIRMAN; Linda Slaminsky: "Next year as recreation chairman I hope to help more students take advantage of the bowling and swimming program offered weekly. I also hope to sponsor new recreational activities for the enjoyment of all."

RESIDENCE CHAIRMAN; Joyce Marshall: "It is the responsibility of the Residence Chairman to explain the residence rules to the freshmen and transfer students. As chairman of the Residence Board and Dining Room Council, I head those committees which discuss and act upon situations that arise in the dormitories and regarding the dining room. A third duty of the Residence Chairman is to be the associate chairman of Honor Board, thus aiding the Honor Board chairman in all Residence-Honor Board functions."

SOCIAL CHAIRMAN; Marilyn Saltz: "College social functions are fun for every participant. A Lesley night at 'Pops', this year on May 28, is one example of the social chairman's duty. Any college weekend or a special day's event are characteristic responsibilities. There are plans ahead for many such days."

HONOR BOARD CHAIRMAN; Sally Galway: "As Chairman of next year's Honor Board, I will work with every member of the board in the orientation of the new Honor System, the discussion and decisions of cases and the administration of the handbook quiz to the freshman."

BUILDING FUND CHAIRMAN; Naomi Belson: "As chairman of the Building Fund Committee, I supervise all money raising activities for our college fund. If I am the cause of your depleted penny banks and your spent-ahead-of-time-allowances remember... It is all for a bigger and better Lesley."

Fashion File

What lines do you use? Do they bring out the very best in you or do they detract from you? The "lines" just mentioned, are, of course, style lines!

Just as each person is built differently, so too does each person need different style lines to truly flatter her figure. Whether you are tall or short, fat or thin or a combination, there are right lines for you.

For those of you who are tall, avoid those unbroken vertical lines. Break the long look with an interesting belt, yoke, or pocket detail. Throw away your flat heels—they fool no one. If you're short be careful of horizontal lines; the vertical—either asymmetrical or striped line is for you, as is the diagonal. Avoid a cluttered look in big jewelry, buttons, or pockets; simplicity is your by-word.

Where Nature has been too generous, guide eyes away from the unwanted area. Don't call attention to too much bulk with an accessory right there! If you've been under-endowed, subtle padding through clever dress line or undergarment solves your problem. Heavy legs look pleasingly slim with simple, dark hose and v-throated plain pumps. Bowed or too-thin legs can look lovely with seamless stockings.

No matter what the "big trend" is, strive for a look that is YOU; that is always in style!

Classes Look Ahead

The classes of Lesley College are looking ahead with plans for next semester. . . .

SENIOR CLASS: The Junior Class is looking forward to its senior year with great anticipation. Plans are now underway to select the yearbook staff. The names of these girls in charge of the Lesleyan for 1961 will be announced at the yearbook assembly, May 24.

Next year will bring exciting events to the class such as the day the new seniors receive their gowns, the Freshman capping, the Senior Dinner Dance, a very special class project, Class Day and, if we look far into the future, our graduation.

JUNIOR CLASS: Members of the Junior class are characteristically concerned with plans for a Spring Prom and for a "next May's May Day".

In addition, the class of 1962 has initiated a new organization within itself. It is called "A Planning Board", designed to better plan the activities sponsored by the class. The appointed members of the board will include one fourth of the class, serving a two month term. After each term a completely new board will come in. An over-all chairman was appointed for the year and will also be present at executive board meetings. It is hoped that the planning board will strengthen class spirit and that new ideas will be presented.

SOPHOMORE CLASS: The Sophomore Class looks to September as a time of growth. It is then that the class of '63 becomes old time Lesleyans, ready and able to be "Big Sisters" to the incoming group of floundering Freshmen. The class looks forward to the Freshman-Sophomore Week, to the fun it brings with its zany activities and to the friendships that can be made with the new Lesley girls.

A Sophomore Class project is a part of class plans but beyond these standard Sophomore tasks, only next term will tell what will make the Sophomore class outstanding.

Building a Temple

A builder built a temple,
He wrought it with grace and skill;
Pillars and groins and arches
All fashioned to work his will.
Men said as they saw its beauty
"It shall never know decay.
Great is thy skill, O builder;
Thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher built a temple
With loving and infinite care,
Planning each arch with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
None praised her unceasing efforts
None knew of her wondrous plan,
For the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple,
Crumbled into the dust;
Low lies each stately pillar,
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded
Will last while the ages roll.
For that beautiful unseen temple
Is a child's immortal soul.
