Experimental College

We have planted the seed and now we are beginning to grow. The E.C. (Experimental College) which began after Spring Vacation, has five ongoing, non-credit seminars. The groups that are meeting are Drugs, Sex Education, Guitar, Yoga, and Prejudice and Urban Studies. This is a small beginning but we hope to enlarge. Planning will be continued during the summer, so that more encompassing programs can be offered early next year.

Those interested who are willing to work and plan, however, this program cannot be a success unless students are willing to share in the responsibility for their learning. There are opportunities for people who are interested to get involved in planning, in the individual courses, or as counselors. Those interested can contact:

Lesley Sponsors Lecture

David Schoenbrun

David Schoenbrun, internationally known newscorrespondent, commentator and news analyst, will speak in Cambridge on Monday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Schoenbrun, who is currently Senior Lecturer at Columbia University's Graduate School of International Affairs, will speak on "Kennedy Years and After."

The lecture, sponsored by Lesley College, will be open to the public and a free of charge. It will be held at Sanders Theatre, Harvard College.

David Schoenbrun has utilized every modern means of communications in reporting world affairs, but he is probably best known for his CBS radio program, "David Schoenbrun Reporting" and his televised "Washington Report." He was appointed to Columbia's graduate school faculty in 1967, where he taught the first course on Viet Nam to be offered by that university.

Schoenbrun's lecture is the second in a year-long lecture program offered by Lesley College. The first lecture, held on April 18, featured noted anthropologist Margaret Mead.

Class of '70 Hosts This Year's Parents' Weekend

It seems as if the year between each Parent's Weekend flies by too quickly and once again we find ourselves in the midst of the fun filled activities that go along with the joining of Lesley girls and their parents. A warm welcome is extended to all of those participating in this years program sponsored by the class of 1970. This year the May 2-3, 4, weekend was planned under the co-chairmanship of Beth Benoit, Susan Spencer and Maribeth Craven.

If last nights play was any indication of the rest of the weekend we certainly have a great time in store for us. The Junior Class Original Play, "Those Were the Days," has been accepted a hilarious success of the week. Everyone who has watched the plot unfold on the stage.

Experimental Dorms Initiated at Lesley

Among the 1969-70 campus changes at Lesley are two experimental dormitories. Starting as "the dreams" of several freshmen, including Kathy McFerrin and working itself through student government, the idea of two so-called experimental dormitories is now a reality.

Next year, Bouma will house twelve girls. No member of the Residence Staff will be living in the house. Mrs. Katie Jackson, who resides in Wendell Hall, will be available in the Residence Director's office when needed. Consistent consultation and collaboration with the Dean of Students will be expected.

As to commitment, Dr. Mead pointed out that "Identity and Commitment" is impossible to commit yourself to life. We have a sense of "now". Whatever we do we must realize that our children won't do the same way. There is an urgent world situation and we must realize that we are a being only once. This is "the New Generation."

A question and answer period followed. Dr. Mead's, dynamic presentation, Dr. Orton, gave closing remarks and everyone then adjourned to White Hall for a reception for Dr. Mead.
In Appreciation to Dr. Oliver

There is a singer everyone has heard, Loud, a midsummer and a mid-week bird, Who makes the solid tree trunks sound again. He says the sweetest thing that ever birds say, And that for flowers Midsummer is to sing as one to ten. He says the early petal-fall is past When pear and cherry bloom went down in showers On sunny days a moment overcast; And comes that other fall we name the fall. He says the highway dust is over all.

The bird would cease to be as other birds But that he knows he is singing not to town. The question that he frames in all but words Is what to make of a diminished thing. — Robert Frost

EDITORIAL

It is with this issue that The Lantern changes hands. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have worked with us this year to make The Lantern as successful as we think it has been. We have had contributions from freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors at Lesley, from our own faculty and administration, and from students and faculty from other colleges and universities around the country.

We have tried to include news not only from and about Lesley, but about things happening in the community and the world. We have attempted to bring in radical viewpoints on important subjects, editorial comments on current issues, both inside and outside of Lesley College, and to make the paper more interesting and exciting for everyone.

But now our year has ended. And we, of The Lantern, would like to extend our appreciation to those who have contributed to the content of the paper, and of course, the joys of the paper to the new staff. We would like to wish them success in everything they do, and we know that they will do a lot.

Lord Newark News

by Chris Karyo and Randi Kjeldsen

The description of the Lord Newark News, Honor-Society has been the following: devoted to continuing and furthering public relations at Lesley College. This includes publicizing activities, holding banquets, and the joys of the paper to the new staff. We would like to wish them success in everything they do, and we know that they will do a lot.

Students and Faculty Participate in Thought-Provoking Forum

An All-College Forum was the result of a recent Educational Goals Committee meeting. There is an acute interest among parts of the student and faculty to improve the learning qualities at Lesley. One of the suggestions made by the President of SGC was the co-moderator for the forum. A panel composed of Sherri Nattok, Mr. David Hiscock, Jill Snebourn, Miss Jane Irving, Debbie Schwartz and Mr. Paul Fidler, discussed the problems which we have encountered in our academic pursuits and the weaknesses which we now have hindering us in the future. The minutes from the 1964 Educational Goals meeting were read aloud by Mr. and Mrs. Hiscock... Two main questions were raised from this: 1) What is the relationship between the academic community and the academic community? 2) Whether the academic problems a problem with academics? Here, the academic problems can be expressed by both faculty and student. But that was all talk. Where do we go from here?

Student Government Council Changes

In order to get student opinion on a major structure change which involves and needs the whole student body, All-College meeting was held on April 7, 1969. Leslie Domnum submitted a proposal which will now become a major part of our new constitution. Those students who are in favor of the proposal will now have their way out. You'll always be able to find people who’ll support selling-out to a cause rather than supporting a cause that might endanger or threaten one’s security; prestige; or prestige. Eventually in every man’s life he must stand alone, doing a cause that is more impossible—the patriotic, scared, Americanized or the striking student?

Don’t condemn just because you don’t understand the situation or because it’s an easy way out. You’ll still be able to point people who’ll support selling-out to a cause rather than supporting a cause that might endanger or threaten one’s security; prestige; or prestige. Eventually in every man’s life he must stand alone, doing a cause that is more impossible—the patriotic, scared, Americanized or the striking student?

How about it— the times, they are a changin’
Reflections by Lynne Brown

May 3, 1969

It was like a crazy, happy kaleidoscope... the colorful pieces formed a thousand different shapes, splashed in a thousand different directions... All those kids in the tree (How did they ever climb so high?) dangled their flowered legs in time with the music... two pigtailed men (followers of Hary Krishna) in long robes, beat drums and whined a strange, religious chant... and there was a beat drum and whined a strange, religious chant... and there was a beat drums and whined a strange, religious chant...

The smell of marijuana and incense floated smoothly around small, smiling groups... A curly-haired man in a black cape chattered quietly with jerky arm movements, and a lime-green parrot sat quietly on his shoulder... A little, wide-eyed girl, wearing a purple dress, purple tights, and suede shoes, dangled frazzled fishtails and kites.

A sunshine, seeping from a blue, blue sky, was everywhere... No one at the first Sunday concert could stop smiling.

Question: What do you think of the new Experimental Dorm?

Myrna Wyma: I really think it's a good idea because all of us at Lesley should be mature enough to be responsible for ourselves. I do not think that it is enough to be responsible for one's own dorm. Teacher Education Workshop in Newton

A two-day workshop in teacher education was held at the Frank F. Carr School in Newton in mid-April for distributed students. Teachers and faculty members of two Newton Public schools and the Lesley College Graduate School of Education. The program, sponsored jointly by the Horace Mann and Frank F. Carr Schools in Newton and the Lesley College Graduate School of Education in Cambridge was designed to acquaint participants with the innovations in teacher training included in a project developed by the American Association of College Teachers Education.

Sherri Kritzer: I think it's a really great idea, for it gives the girls at Lesley a chance to prove their responsibility. It is a step toward a self-governing campus and it puts the house system to a true test.

---

Susan Grossman: I don't see much difference between the present dormitory situation and the experiment to be established in the fall. I think that the majority of the Lesley students are functioning very well without relying heavily upon the house director. It seems to me that the responsibilities of the house director can be divided among the residents of the experimental dorm without any major difficulties arising and this house will thrive as well as the others.

Interview

"How do you do, you don't sit down, name please?"

Have your summer job interviews begun like that? Maybe not quite as bad.

"This is one of the first sections of the play "America Hurrah.""

America's "beautiful" sung by Kate Smith, but with a surprise ending. The point throughout the play is, how美好 is America? Mr. Van Italia has touched, or blasted, the most tender, obnoxious areas of the American way of life: less of identity in the mass affirmation upon upon shallowness, shallowness, artificiality, hypocrisy, and just plain stupidity.

Slides and movies were done by Art Wood, and sound effects by Frank Galvin. Albert Bowser directed. Lighting manager is Carol Licht, stage manager is Nancy Miller.

The other play on the bill with Interview is "Ex Miss Cooper Queen on a Set of Pills." The play is a critical commentary on the problem of drug abuse. The theater company was represented by a cast of 14 students, 11 of whom are members of the Student Government this year.

Charly — Cliff Robertson was the well deserved recipient of the "best actor" Award at Television Academy for his performance as Charly. Charly is a retarded man who is capable of taking care of himself but obviousely the whole world surrounding him. Charly thinks, acts, and plays like a child. Also like a child, he is amused by the game of "writing". He therefore goes to nightclases with foreign classmates who are being introduced to the English language. As he they go through a speech, Charly develops a crush for his teacher, well-played by Claire Bloom.

Club Co-ordinator will be established to help new and old clubs, meet with their Vice Presidents or Presidents on a regular basis to provide inter-club and all-college communication.

The new executive board will cut off all of the smaller and more trivial matters which need not go to the general council for decision. They will make decisions which they feel others on General Council will not.

The President, Vice President, other schools. need not go to the general required Ed course sheets.

Improvements.

The Corresponding Secretary, represented at a Massachusetts Conference in Boston by Sue Mars of Washington, D.C., Senior Associate Secretary of the AACTE, and by Lenore D. Stringham, Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Donald Cruickshank of University of Tennessee. The workshop was sent to the Student Government will obtain.

The curfew sheets have now been tabulated and a date has been set for May 15.

It is hoped that this collaboration will be at least as effective as the one which took place last year.

SGC, through the Residence Board and the curfew committee has been working hard. Nancy Singley and her committee are now tabulating the results of the required Ed course sheets.

Sherry Nathow is working with others on General Ed improvements.

SGC is working on the possibility of establishing a tuition free program at Lesley. The committee is currently studying similar programs in other schools.

Recently our school was represented at a Massachusetts Inter-collegiate Government Conference in Boston by Sue Sneewey, Kathey Tuden and Lutie Dommu. The purpose of the conference was to veto bills drawn up by students which would then be presented to the Massachusetts Legislature.

The conference was set up with the format of the legislative structure and delegates. The students of both the executive board and the curfew committee were invited to participate.

It is hoped that this collaboration will be at least as successful and rewarding as the one which took place last year.

SGC, through the Residence Board has also been working on a revision of the current parietal content structure of and the increased learning experiences which may be drawn from it.

The Educational Goals Committee spent the extra day in April 15, analyzing the content structure of and the inferences which may be drawn from the forum which took place April 10.

Several proposals or ideas were brought forth which could hopefully help to solve these problems presented at the forum.

It was decided to have a follow-up Action forum which is tentatively set for May 15. During this all college gathering, students, faculty and administration might be asked to set forth any models which they feel would be workable in solving our student-faculty-administration problems.

The new forum would focus on action steps and models for action, rather than more talk. It is hoped that some definite proposals will be ready formulated, explained and implemented.

SGC elections took place on April 16 and 17. The results will be announced at the Honors Assembly.

Student Government is planning the annual Honors Assembly which will take place on May 1. Don’t miss it.

The curriculum committee of Student Government have been working hard. Nancy Singley and her committee are now tabulating the results of the required Ed course sheets.
