

Fall 2002

About the Contributors

Journal Staff

Lesley University, jppp@lesley.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.lesley.edu/jppp>

---

Recommended Citation

Staff, Journal (2002) "About the Contributors," Journal of Pedagogy, Pluralism, and Practice: Vol. 2 : Iss. 2 , Article 10.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.lesley.edu/jppp/vol2/iss2/10>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Lesley. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Pedagogy, Pluralism, and Practice by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Lesley. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@lesley.edu.

About the Contributors

Harold Hodgkinson

The Director of the Center for Demographic Policy and President of Hodgkinson Associates, LTD. An expert on demographic and educational issues, Hodgkinson has consulted for dozens of multinational corporations and over 600 colleges and universities. He is the author of 12 books, including Education in Social and Cultural Perspectives and Power and Authority: Transformation of Campus Governance.

Elsa Nuñez

A former Provost at Lesley University, Elsa Nuñez is currently the President of Eastern Connecticut State University.

Judith Beth Cohen

A professor in the Adult Learning PhD Program and has designed and taught educational programs for adults, and is also the author of the novel Seasons. Cohen believes in developing body-based, active learning strategies in her instruction and is passionate about integrating face-to-face intensive teaching with online lessons.

Katherine Barone

Currently serves as the Division Director for Lesley's Undergraduate Psychology and Applied Therapies program. Barone has concentrated her scholarship on multi-cultural practice and research for trauma and recovery. Barone has also coordinated Lesley's campus gospel choir for over 15 years, and is an advocate for integrating music in talk therapy.

Professor Elanor Roffman

As a feminist social justice activist, she has worked consistently over 40 years, integrating her professional life as a faculty member at Lesley University with her political commitments. Her long-term resolve to work towards a just solution for the Israel/Palestine struggle began in the late 70's when she witnessed first-hand the impact of institutionalized racism, displacement, and occupation, within the 1948 borders, as well as in occupied Palestine. Throughout the decades, she has visited the region many times and has worked closely with other Americans, Palestinians, and Israelis, in the interest of being an ally and informing Americans about the situation and the role our government plays in perpetuating the colonization of Palestine by Israelis. Her work is framed within an understanding of the role of bearing witness and the importance of speaking up about injustice

Anne Elezabeth Pluto

A professor of Theatre and Literature at Lesley. Pluto strives to facilitate creativity in the classroom through mutual respect and diligence. She developed Lesley's Drama Minor and Drama track at Lesley, and is the director of the Oxford Street Players Shakespearean theater troupe.